On October 7, 2011, NSHOF hosted the 2nd Annual Learning Math & Science Through Sailing Workshop at the United States Naval Academy's Robert Crown Sailing Center. Attendees to this free workshop (held annually during the United States Sailboat Show in Annapolis, MD) had the opportunity to engage in dialogue and brainstorming, as well tour the Naval Academy's HydroLab.

To play a video simply click on the play button. Some of the presentations have online PowerPoints - to view a PowerPoint click on the link.

Welcome & Introduction

Lee Tawney
Executive Director, NSHOF

Byron F. Marchant
Member, Board of Directors, NSHOF

Opening Remarks

Bill Townsend
Former Deputy Center Director and Program Management Council Chairperson
NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center

PANEL 1 — Math & Science in Our Land & Water Classrooms

John O'Flaherty
Executive Director, Community Boating Center – Providence, RI

Peter Gunn
Executive Director, Young Mariners Foundation – Stamford, CT

Alex Baum
Program Director, Hudson River Community Sailing – New York, NY

Partnership with Anne Arundel Co. Public Schools STEM Program

Susan Nahmias
Education Director, National Sailing Center & Hall of Fame – Annapolis, MD

Play Powerpoint Presentation Online

Right+Click or Ctrl+Click to Download

PANEL 2 — Math & Science Innovation Opportunities

Google Earth / Google Maps

Jonathan Ahlbrand
E-Learning Specialist, Blackboard

Play Powerpoint Presentation Online

Right+Click or Ctrl+Click to Download

Smithsonian Environmental Research Center

Julia Elkin
Education Specialist, Smithsonian Environmental Research Center

Play Powerpoint Presentation Online

Right+Click or Ctrl+Click to Download

STEM Initiatives Through Naval Architecture

Professor Paul Miller
USNA Naval Architecture and Ocean Engineering Department

Play Powerpoint Presentation Online

Right+Click or Ctrl+Click to Download

STEM - Not JUST Science, Tech, Engineering and Math...

Dr. Maureen McMahon
Assistant Superintendent for Advanced Studies and Programs
Anne Arundel County Public Schools

Play Powerpoint Presentation Online

Right+Click or Ctrl+Click to Download